Portage County has executed an agreement with RLC Partners to develop Ravenna Learning Center

March 4, 2014 - Portage County Port Authority today executed an agreement with RLC Partners, comprised of Paran Management Company and Premier Development Partners to pursue the development of a Learning Center on the site of the former Ravenna High School.

RLC Partners brings expertise and experience in the development of buildings suited to the programs and needs of educational institutions. It will first obtain a sponsoring institution and then work with that institution in the creation and design of an appropriate facility.

Programs will be focused on work force development, access to course work required for an associates degree. Through Learning Center affiliates, access to baccalaureate programs will be provided as well.

The work of the Learning Center will be monitored by an Advisory Board drawn from the Port Authority and the general Community.
